A collection of statements, tools and initiatives related to

Aqua fons vitae

from the Holy See and the Catholic Church

Vatican City, November 2020
“When we speak of the need to care for our common home, our planet, we appeal to that spark of universal consciousness and mutual concern that may still be present in people’s hearts. Those who enjoy a surplus of water yet choose to conserve it for the sake of the greater human family have attained a moral stature that allows them to look beyond themselves and the group to which they belong. How marvellously human!”

Pope Francis, encyclical letter Fratelli tutti, § 117.
Foreword

Following the publication of the document Aqua fons vitae earlier this year, the Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development presents this collection of inspiring material related to water. This collection, which was announced in the aforementioned document (§ 19), includes magisterial documents, lectures, advocacy campaigns, statements pronounced at the United Nations, tools and descriptions of ongoing projects.

The material gathered relates to water according to the three dimensions described in Aqua fons vitae:

1-water for human use; 2-water as a resource used in many human activities; 3-water as a space which includes rivers, aquifers and oceans.

Several documents have not been published directly by the Holy See and projects in many countries have not been assessed or implemented with the collaboration of the Dicastery. Thus, by referencing them here, the Dicastery is not endorsing them.

This said, the Dicastery is happy to present this material as a whole, as it can make a usefully contribute to reflection, sharing, collaboration and decision-making. It is also a way to demonstrate and further promote the diversity of commitments within the Church about integral human development and water.

The Dicastery expresses its gratitude to those who contributed to this compilation, and prays for God’s blessing and guidance for all those who are currently involved in the initiatives hereby presented.
